"Advancing knowledge of veterinary wound healing"

Save the date!

May 11th 2018, Krakow, Poland

THEME: Modeling wound healing: fiction or reality?

VWHA invites everyone interested in wound healing to join us for our Annual Conference on May 11th 2018 with the theme: Modeling wound healing: fiction or reality? This conference takes place within EWMA congress 2018, May 9-11th.

The scientific program will combine keynote lectures about different wound healing models (in vivo, ex vivo, in vitro and in silico) with free communications detailing the newest knowledge in the field of veterinary wound healing.

The program will be of interest for everyone involved in wound healing research – veterinary as well as human, and focus will be on interaction between different groups of professionals (medical doctors, veterinarians, researchers).

Call for abstracts!

Abstracts dealing with topics within all fields (basic as well as clinical sciences) of wound healing and management in large and small animals including laboratory animals and exotic species are invited. Abstracts reporting original research, case series and case reports will be considered. The best abstracts are selected for an oral presentation, and the best oral presentation will be awarded a prize.

Please submit your abstract using the abstract form (www.vwha.net) to advice@vwha.net

Deadline: February 1st 2018

Join us for a stimulating day!
